SEMINAR REPORT on 'The Contribution of Freedom Fighters to India's Independence'.

Organised As a Part of 'Har Ghar Tiranga' Campaign programmes directed by Education Directorate, Higher Education Department, Government of West Bengal from 09/08/2026 - 17/08/2026

Date: 09/08/2026 (Sunday) Time- 10:00 AM Venue: Google Meet Number of Participants: 50 (Approx)

A seminar was organised at Asannagar Madan Mohan Tarkalankar College on the theme of The Contribution of Freedom Fighters to India's Independence. The seminar was attended by approximately 50 participants, including the Honourable Teacher-in-Charge of the College, Dr. Biswajit Podder, faculty members from different departments, non-teaching staff, and students of various departments. The Chief Speaker of the seminar was Mr. Partha Banerjee, Head and Assistant Professor of the Department of History. The entire discussion session was conducted by Mr. Partha Ray Chowdhury, (SACT) faculty member of the Department of History.

At the very beginning of the seminar, the Honourable Teacher-in-Charge, Dr. Biswajit Podder, delivered the Welcome Address. In his address, he highlighted the importance and contemporary relevance of the topic of the seminar and emphasized the significance of critically understanding the different strands of India's freedom movement. This was followed by the main lecture delivered by Mr. Partha Banerjee, Head of the Department of History. He presented a detailed and critical analysis of the nature, development, and trajectory of the activities of the armed revolutionaries during India's freedom struggle. The speaker discussed how revolutionary activities emerged as a distinct political trend, partly outside the mainstream of the Congress-led nationalist movement. He also traced the subsequent development and transformation of revolutionary politics and examined how, over time, sections of the revolutionary movement became increasingly connected with the broader stream of the national movement.

Drawing upon modern historical research, the speaker critically examined the changing nature of revolutionary activities, their political objectives, methods, limitations, and their relationship with the wider nationalist movement. Particular emphasis was placed on understanding the revolutionary movement not merely through individual acts of violence, but as a broader political phenomenon within the history of Indian nationalism.

The seminar concluded with a Vote of Thanks delivered by Lieutenant Mr. Sujan Debnath, Assistant Professor of the Department of History and ANO, NCC. He expressed gratitude to the Honourable Teacher-in-Charge, the Chief Speaker, the faculty members, non-teaching staff, and students for their active participation and cooperation in making the seminar successful.

The seminar provided an intellectually stimulating platform for students and faculty members to engage with an important aspect of India's freedom struggle and encouraged a critical and research-oriented understanding of the history of revolutionary nationalism in India.
